Dec. 7, 1959

Dear Staff Writer:

By now you have already received your personal bundle of new Quarterlies. As you know, this one comes after having missed two regular issues. However, this was beyond our control and we hope it will not occur again.

I will be needing your help through the year, as in the past. I am asking you to help as much as $5.00 per quarter. If you will then I think that I will be able to raise the remainder myself.

I am also asking you personally to continue on as a staff writer. I am not doing this because of your financial contribution, as much as it is needed, but because I consider you my friend and brother in Christ. I am anxious to do all the good I can through the medium of Christian Journalism and I trust that you share the same sentiment.

With this issue we begin Vol. 2. It is my prayer that we can go right along, making progress with every forth coming issue. To do this then I will need your help, believe me. I am asking you to send in articles, new ideas, and at the same time, encourage others to do the same.

Tell everyone you see about this magazine. It will grow if only given a chance.

Remember, I am counting on you.

Your brother in Christ,

J. C. Choate

P.S. Send your $5.00 as soon as possible inasmuch as the bill for the Quarterly is already due. Thanks, in advance.
